The Conversation Between Brewster and Henry About the Star Route Jury Panel:

Washington, November 29.—The department of justice, to-day, made public a copy of the interview between attorney General Brewster and District Marshal Henry, held at the former's office, on June 2, last, immediately after the drawing for jurors to serve in the Star route cases, in which the attorney general interrogated the marshal at length as to the qualifications of the men selected as takesmen. In response, Marshal Henry said he gave directions to the bailiff to set good, reputable citizens, and that he supposed they were such krewster took the marshal to task for not selecting the men himself, and informed him that it was his duty to have done to. During the course of the conversation the attorney general toold the marshal he wished him and everybody else to understand that "the government does not want a conviction unjustiy obtained. It wants fair play and will have it." The attorney general then questioned the marshal about the Dorseys calling at his office, of which fact Henry denied knowledge, and insteed that he and his men had clean hands in the matter. Brewster charged Henry with picking up men on the streets for talesmen, whereupon Henry reterted that he had done his entire duty and was as anxious for a fair trial as any one, and that if any failures had been made they ha

A Scandal in St. Louis Involving Prominent People.

St. Louis, November 29.—The parties involved in the shoo ing affray, briefly referred to last night, were Frank T. Igleheart, former cashier of the banking house of Bartholomew, Lewis & Co., very highly connected, and Mr. Rush H. Tevis, a well-known merchant. Igleheart and a lady, closely veiled, came from a house on Singleton street, known as an assignation house, early last evening, when Tevis and a companion, who, it saems, had been lying in wait, appeared from an alley near the house. Tevis fired at Ingleheart, wounding him, but not dangerously, in the arm. The laster fell, and the woman helped him up, while the assailants ran to a livery stable, a block away, and procured their rig, which had been left there, and drove rapidly off. Iglehart, supported by the lady, walked a few blocks, when a passing carriage was halled, and they were driven to the former's residence. The lady then drove away in the carriage. It is supposed the man with Tevis was a private detective; that the lady was Tevis's wife; and that it was his intention to kill igleheart. All the parties are very reticent, but the affair has caused much excitement, as the persons involved are all well-known and highly connected.

Mrs Tevis was a Miss Reese, and is a niece of General Sherman; also, a niece of the late Judge Samuel Reber. Her iather is a colonef in the United States army. Mr. and Mrs. Tevis had a meeting this morning. They have separated, he taking the only child, a little girl, three years old. He with institute suit for divorce at once, which will be allowed to go by defau t. The bones of Mr. Igleheart's left arm below the elbow are shattered, and the ball ranged upward, but the wound is not serious. The scandal is the topic of general conversation in town to-day.

Engineer Scaleded to Death.

Engineer Scalded to Death.

John Cromwell, Vanda is engineer on engine No. 109, met with a horrible death at 6 o'clock list night, between the river bridge and the Belt road. He was backing his engine toward the city when it collided with a switching train. The force of the collision uprurned the engine tender, wedging Cromwell against the cab and pouring down upon him the supply of coal just taken on. The valves were igneed loose and the steam poured out directly upon the unfortunate engineer, causing unspeakable torture, and evidently scalding him to ceath. He suffered a full half hour, conscious all the time before death came to his relief. His comrades were unable to extricate him, owing to the immense weight and pressure resting upon him. Cromwel was a married man with a wife and two children living in Terre Haute. Undertaker Waraer today shipped the body to Rushville, Ind., for burial. The presence of the dead man's father in the city, furnished a meiancholy feature. He was in the yard speaking to friendsof a desire to have his son take charge of a farm and abandon railroadding, when word of the calamity was received. The smior Cromwell was among the first to reach the scene of death. The coroner viewed the remains.

FREE trade in this country, or anything approximating to it, would mean industrial and commercial paralysis and suicide.— Chicago Journal.

How? Specify. At any rate under the highest of high protective tariff for years we have to-day-in the face of enormous crops, industrial paralysis, feebleness in almost all branches of trade, stoppage in some, reduction of wages all round; while long ago by means of this same tariff we committed commercial suicide in drawing our own commerce off the seas, presenting to-day the spectacle of the biggest coast line and fewest ships of any nation on

MR. FITCH, a St. Louis iron master, says that in a certain English rail mill he has seen twelve men and two boys perform the work which in this country, with the appliances in our mills, it takes thirty-six men to accomplish. No wonder English rails are cheaper than ours. But that doesn't account for the difference of $20 per ton which our rail makers say must exist. Nor does any difference in wages account for it. A tariff which taxes every thing that goes to make up a rail is what accounts for it, both directly and indirectly, in holding the makers secure in a high price and in rendering them indifferent to competition. "Competition, the life of trade," is mashed flat by a tariff which guarantees a bonus on the product.

THE scandal at Lafayette about Mrs. Gougar and Captain De Witt Wallace is one of the most natural things in the world. Mr. Gougar or Mr. Smith or Mr. Jones could go to Captain Anybody's office and remain from 8 o'clock in the evening till midnight and nothing would be thought of it. In the course of business such things occur every night in every city. But for a woman to do the same, and for a purpose just as innocent and legitimate, is to set all the slanderous tongues in the community wagging. Though she be "as chaste as ice, as pure as snow, she shall not escape calumny." We do not say that Mrs. Gougar went alone to Captain Wallace's office and stayed there as indicated; that is the charge. Nor do we say that it is anybody's business if she did. But if she did it is as natural as human nature that scandal should come of it; it must, always, in every case. It is impossible, in the moral nature of things, for a man and woman to meet as a man and man may. Out of this deplorable Lafayette affair we trust and believe this gentleman and lady will come forth vindicated. But the episode illustrates one of the phases of that order of things which female suffragists pray for, when a woman may come and go in the walks of life as a man with men. Is it not plain that under such a condition no woman's reputation, however pure and stainless her character, could be safe? THE great and peculiarly American movable feast-"Thanksgiving" recurs this year opportunely. The rich indeed and the self-sufficient find in the dead level of their abiding prosperity a call for few thanks; little disturbed by variable conditions they take it as a matter of course. But for the masses a good year or a bad is of more intimate concern, and when nature has done her part and the seasons have come in full-handed as they have this year, we say it is a good year and are thankful, We might add a sweeter incense to our offering were we to look at the human or dering of affairs and be able to say, "this also is good," and so thank God and take courage. We of America may do this truly. The American workingman may be thankful that his holiday is yet a reality, a day of rest for him and not merely a day of recreation for the rich-something that involves continuous labor for him: and if he is wise he will resist the insidious encroachments which in the name of liberty are destined finally to enslave him. The plea that no law shall hedge in the day of rest, be it the weekly or yearly time so set apart, but that every one shall be at liberty to do as he likes, means finally, as inevitably as logic, that the workingman shall have no such time. Humanly speaking there are comparatively few this, world who can do as they like. Among those who cannot are the working masses, and let them once surrender the sanction of law which sets spart their day of rest and they have handed their liberty over to the caprice or cupidity of employers. It may be pleasant to have public amusements on these days of rest, but does any one think manager in thus compelling his employes to work, will encourage the railway manager and the mill and factory manager in compelling their employes to work, and the end is certain: no time for rest for the workingman, but only for the few who are self-sufficient. The American workingman can give thanks that thus far he is free, but-"the price of liberty is eternal vigi-That there is on the whole a more general and intimate realization of this truism than there has been for years, we abundantly believe, and this is cause for thanksgiving. The late elections were proof of it. The mere surface accident of democratic success is not referred to. That is nothing. There was no general division on any common issue. No one principle appeared calling for its champions. There were degrading local fusses and internecine strife and beggarly scuffles for candle ends. On the surface, affairs never seemed more ignoble. There was general apathy, and then there was a general turning over from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and at once, as out of the ground in a night, there sprang a new growth. coming from under the muck, which lay "the fat weed That rots itself in ease on Lethe wharf." It may mean something or nothing for this or that party. It means much for the people. Who has not felt that the American people asserted themselves in this Thanksgiving month of 1882? With the words of the English philesopher ringing in our ears like a plaint or a croak, that we were given over to the domination of "besses," our rights usurped by corporations who respected no law but themselves, our liberties made way with by the special privileges of monopoly, the spirit of the time found voice, and it spoke for the death of the bosses, the political boss, the iron boss, the wool boss, the boss of trade, of commerce and of industry. It spoke for the life and liberty of the people. Who has not felt that here the people took on the ordering of affairs and pivoted and turned them in the direction of the general good? For the future there are to be fewer privileges and more rights; a measurable ending of the spirit of tinkering; an explosion of the notion of "protecting" every selfish interest that quawks loud enough. The heavy hand of government is no longer to be laid on labor for the benefit of capital. A whole people is not to be taxed double prices in order to raise a bonus for a few. This, in general, and in particular is the promise of the time. Surely it is progress upward.

Surely it is cause sufficient for thanksgiving.

A Remedy for Diphtheria. A gentleman residing in the northern part of the city, whose two little daughters were dying last Thursday of diphtheria, saw in the Record of that day a communication commending the use of sulphur in cases of diphtheria. As a last resort, he made a trial of it, using washed flowers of sulphur, and applying it directly to the membraneous growths in the throats of the children by means of a common clay pipe. The effect was almost magical. Within two hours there was complete relief, and in two days the children, who had been given up by their physician, had completely recovered. While it is not reasonable to rely entirely upon sulphur in the ills that beset children, it is doubtful if there has ever been a proper recognition. gentleman residing in the northern in the ills that beset children, it is doubt-ful if there has ever been a proper recog-nition of its value as a destroyer of mor-bid or fungus membraneous growths in cases of a diptheretic type. Distilled or sublimed sulphur, known as flowers of sul-phur, should be used, not the powdered crude sulphur.

About a week ago a story was started in Lafayette that on Sunday night, November 19, about 8 o'clock, Harry Mandler, chief of the police, and Chas. Poock, the well-known barber, saw Capt, DeWitt Wallace, late republican candidate for senator, and Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, editress of Our Herald, enter Wallace's law office on Columbia street, and remain there until near midnight. Yesterday the scandal culminated in an action for $10,000 damages, brought by Mrs. Helen M. Gougar against Harry Mandler. R. P. & J. C. Davidson, Col. W. C. Wilson, and Col. E. P. DeHart are her attorneys. Mandler has retained Messers. Coffroth & Stuart and John F. Mc-Hugh, who, in his behalf, waived the Hugh, who, in his behalf, waived the usual ten days time and entered a plea of justification. Under the law a man can not bring an action for slander in a case of this sort, but it is reserved as one of the special and peculiar perogatives of the other sex. Hence Mrs. Gougar brings the suit. It promises to be a celebrated case. and it in a distribution to the array of counsel above named, Captain Wallace, himself a prominent member of the bar, will be in the fight; also John D. A Thought for Thanksgiving. It was the time of antumn,
When leaves are turning brown,
Green to yellow and pied to bia...
And some were tumbling Jown.

It was the time of autumn,
When fruits are gathered in,
Some for the press, some for the vat
And some for the miller's bin,

Then poor men fell a p'aying.
For that their work was o'er;
And rich men fell a sighing,
That they could play no more.

For the summer time is a merry time If a man have leisure to play; But the summer time is a weary time To him who must work all day.

Then thanks to God the giver, Who loves both great and small; To every one he something gives, But to no man giveth all.

The rich, who careth for himself
Finds after pleasure, pain;
But the toiler whom God careth for Rests, and is glad again.

The man's name is Simon Ladenski, a native of Roumania. In the winter of 1877, he then being twenty-three years old, Ladenski was one of a party of ten men whose throats were cut by a band of gypsy robbers on the road from Varsioe. Lakenski was not killed, and on regaining consciousness and finding the robbers quarreling over the division of the plunder he attempted to crawl into some bushes by the wayside. Being detected he was strung up to a tree by the neck, and when again unconscious he was let down and thrown among the bodies of his companions, but not until he had been stabbed in the abdomen and cut in the cheek. Two days later the bodies were found by Professor Russ, of Jassy, and Ladenski and a companion who was still alive were removed to town. The latter soon died, and then Professor Russ removed his patient to Vienna. There Ladenski was placed under the care of the most eminent Austrian surgeons. It was found that the windpipe was closed, and for two years the man was unable to uttera word. He breathed through an opening in the neck. Five of the surgeous remain constantly at the home offices, Cincinnati; the other 20 visit the principal cities of the United States and Canada, or are in charge of branch offices. Arrangements are now being perfected for opening a branch office in Indianapolis. Due notice of the locality and date will be given through the medium of the press. The Indianapolis branch will be in charge of three of the most skilled and experienced of "The Drs. K. and K. Surgeons." We desire to be distinctly understood in regard to one particular. The Home establishment is a permament institution, and will be maintained during a period of years, limited only by the lives of the present proprietors. The recent issue of the Guide To Health, a four-page paper, correctly illustrates the interior as well as the exterior of this splendid and imposing establishment. It also contains articles of vital importance to those in perfect health as well as the afflicted. We particularly commend the articles on "Food," "Mater," "Dress," "Exercise," "Vestilation" and "Bathing." These papers will be distributed gratuitously to the people of this city and vientity, and those who are unfortunate in not being supplied can obtain a copy by sending two three cent stamps to Drs. (From the Commercial.)

The man who engages in mercanuse pursuits not only conducts his business with greater profit to himself, but also with better satisfaction to his customers, by the liberal employment of capital. This fact is universally recognized, yet many people think that in professional business all a man needs is his college diploma, a small office and a few books and instruments. The absurdity of this idea has been strikingly illustrated by Br. J. C. Kennedy, principal of the Drs. K. & K. surgeons, 163 Elm street. He has made the most liberal use of money in furnishing his offices with everything that can contribute to the comfort and convenience of his patients, and with all the remedies, instruments, appliances, etc., that the most advanced medical and surgical science can offer for the mitigation of suffering and the cure of disease. He also spands money without stint to secure the best professional assistants that can be had, The advantage of such a course will readily make itself apparent to all who give the subject a few careful thoughts and the unequalled success of the Drs. K. & K., Surgeons, is concustive evidence that capital is just as necessary to a doctor as to a merchant; that is if he intends to do the best that can be done for his patients, at a reasonable expense to them. If he is only after their money, he may make a large profit from a very small investment; but it is smpossible for any physician to give the proper treatment to all his patients unless he has all the facilities at his command, and, as some of these can only be obtained at great expense, they are not employed by those doctors who do not believe in investing capital in their business, or who have none to invest.

Amusements. GRAND OPERA HOUSE—MISS ANDERSON
The opera house was crowded in every part last night by one of the handsomest audiences of the season, the attraction being Miss Anderson as Pauline in "The Lady of Lyens." The part of Pauline is a favorite one with Miss Anderson, and she appeared in it to the best advantage. Mr. Downing being a capital Meinotte, the scene of the third act, in which Pauline discovers Melnotte's identity, and which is one of the strongest episodes in the play, was so well done as to bring conviction to any doubting mind that Miss Anderson, among American actresses, stands in her sphere RAND OPERA HOUSE-MISS ANDERSON so well done as to bring conviction to any doubting mind that Miss Anderson, among American actresses, stands in her sphere quite without a peer. The whole performance was refreshingly adequate and those present saw clearly revealed those intrinsic merits of the play, which have enabled it to survive more bad treatment at the hands of incompetents than any other play has, probably, ever received. The audicace showed an intelligent and warm appreciation. It is to be hoped that Miss Anderson will always include Indianapolis in her season's tour hereafter. Among the members of the present company is Joseph Anderson, a brother of the tragediente. He is quite a young man, this being his first season. He appeared in both performances of the engagement, and shows decided talent. He has a good voice, a graceful manner, and acts intelligently. It may be that, in the future, he will add new lustre to the Anderson name.

Supreme Court. The following cases were decided Monday, November 27: Monday, November 27:

Notes—computing interest after maturity.

9173. George P. Shaw et al. vs. Elias Rigby.
Clay C. C. Affirmed. Howk, J.

This was a suit on a note and mortgage. The note was as follows, omitting the name of the signers: "January 1º. 1872. One day after date we promise to pay to the order of Rilas Rigby, seven hundred and twenty three dollars, with ten per cent interest, whe received, without any relief from valuation or appraisement laws." The court in rendering jadgment computed and allowed interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum for the whole time. The appellee was only entitled to ten per cent, until maturity and after maturity to only six per cent. In Kilgore w. Powers, & Blackford 22, the court gave judgment for interest at the rate specified from the date of the note to the time of judgment. The doctrine of this case in com uniting interest, on interest bearing contracts was followed in this state for more than forty years. In 1880, in the case of Burns vs. Anderson, 68 Icd. 20; the supreme court over-ruled the case of Kilgore vs. Powers, and pre-ceribed a rule signing the contract rate up to the maturity of the contract, and thereafter the rate prescribed by statute, in cases where the parties have themselves fixed no rate. In the present case, the note in suit was made payable one day after date, and the execution and recording of the mortgage clearly indicated that it was not the intention nor the expectation of the parties to the note, that it is only be paid at maturity, or, if not then paid, that it should bear a lees rate than the stipriated if per cent. I dwas evidently the intention of the parties that the note secured by the mortgage should stand as a debt secured, and bearing interest at the rate of 10 per cent. The case of Burns vs. Anderson is overruled, and the rule deciared in Kil gore vs. Powers re asserted as the proper rule for computing interest, (129 Mass., 22; 32 Cal., 82; 28 Is., 32s.)

RECOVENING BACK MONEY—TAX SALE.

9156. City of Logansport vs. David Humphey. Cast C. C. Beversed. Woods, C. J.

The facts on which this case rests were that the city council of Logansport authorized by resolution the city treasurer to buy certain property at a tax sale for taxes due the city. The appellee was present and bound the property on the assurance of the treasurer that the city would guarantee to appellee the possession thereof, Alterwards the treasurer reported to the council the sale to appellee and the fact of the guaranty, which report was concurred in by the council. The appellee failing to get the property so purchased at the tax sale, trought this suit to recover back the money The general rule is that the purchaser at ax sale wought this suit to recover back the money The general rule is that the purchaser at a tax sale assumes all risks, and except as he may be vested by form of statutory provision with the lien which the state or municipality held against the property of the delinguent tax debtor, he is without remedy if he fails to obtain a good title under his purchase. The doctrine of cavest emptor applies to such sales, (Cooley's tax, 572; 10 Allen 49). There is no power conferred by satute on a city to become a purchaser at a tax sale for taxes due the city. (21 Wis., 295; 30 Wis., 209). The order authorizing t could not be binding on the city as a warranty without express words to that effect, the concurrence in the report would imp, sen o obligation on the city.

NOTES—SURETIES CONSIDERATION.

9049. Samuel Favorite, administrator, etc., vs., Jasper H. Stidham. Tippecance C. C. Reversed. Elliott, J.

The factifiound in this case were briefly that a note was executed by Thomas J. and Christopher C. Taylor in payment for lands, at the time of its execution by these persons Eleanor Taylor's name was not signed, nor was there any agreement or understanding that she should sign it, after the delivery of the note to the payce Eleanor Taylor signed her name without the knowledge of the other makers affixing to her name the word surety. The court as matter of law held that Thomas J. and Christopher C. Taylor were not liable and that Eleanor Taylor's estate was liable on the note. The theory which prevailed in the trial court is that Eleanor Taylor caused the relea of the original makers and tecame herself liable. The undertaking of Mrs. Taylor was that of surety. The payce could not have understood that she meant to assume the position of a maker, release the original makers and become herself solely bound. Her undertaking was that the makers should retain their places and that she should stand as their surety. The undertaking of Mrs. Taylor was that of surety of the original makers for that was not contemplated by herself nor the prayer. If they were mistaken in this, it is a mistake of law, shared by each, and cannot be a reason for holding Mrs. Taylor's estate liable. It constitutes no consideration for her undertaking as surety. The evidence shows that Mrs. Taylor signed the note assurety long after its execution by the makers, and that she received no consideration for her promise. (17 Ind., 896; 43 Ind., 478; 72 Ind., 187; 8 McLean., 387; 51 Miss., 482.)

RAHLWATS—BURNING PAOPERTY—NEGLIGENCE 10045. The L., N. A. & C. R. R. Co vs. Charles Fiber. Carroll C. Reversed. Nibleck L.

187; S McLeau, 887; 51 Miss., 482)

RAILWAYS—BUNNING PROPERTY—NEGLIGENCE 10045. The L., N. A. & C. R. Co vs. Charles Ehlert. Carroll C. C. Reversed. Niblack, J. Woods, C. J., dissenting.

In an action against a railway company for setting fire to combustible material accumulated on its right of way, and the fire thence escaping to and destroying adjoining property, the complaint must aver that the railway company negligently permitted the fire, started on its right of way, to escape onto the land of the plaintiff (50 Ind., 469).

ADMINISTRATORS—HEIRS—REAL ESTATE. 8277. Utyssee D. Coke, administrator, vs. John Lafot taine, et al., Huntington C. C. Reversed. Elliott, J.

The appeller as administrator, instituted this

Elliott, J.

The appellee as administrator instituted this proceeding to obtain an order for the sale of The appellee as administrator instituted this proceeding to obtain an order for the sale of decedent's real estate to pay an alleged indebt edues which had been allowed by the court to Bearss & Scott against the sea'se. One of the appellees, Milligan, answered that he purchased the partof the land sought to be subjected to salefrom one of the heirs, after it had been partitioned by the court, and that the subject of the sale of the partof the land was held publicly with the knowledge of the administrator and the heirs. The answer is bad. There is no estooped on the part of the administrator shown, for it does not appear that Milligan did not have full anowledge of all the facts. (76 Ind., 381). The seventh paragraph of the joint answer of the appellees averring that the administrator consented to the sale of the land and that appellees bought on the faith of such consent, is fatally defective. The consent of the administrator to the sale amounted to nothing. From the answer as an estoppel in pais it does not appear but that both parties were. familiar with the facts. (76 Ind., 381; 29 Ind., 177; Pom. Rem.—712.) The sixteenth paragraph of appellees' answer averred that no cause of action to have the lands sold hath accrued within the period of fifteen years next preceding the filing of the petition. This answer is good. The heirs have a right to interpote the defense of the statute of limitations to a petition to sell the real estate of their deceased ancestor (7 Ind. 442.). The fifteen year statute applies (section 212, code '52). The statute of limitation of six years is plead to the claim of Sears and Scott, without stating what it was. This answer was bad, for the reason that for aught that appears the foundation of the claim may have been a written convexer, a judgment or some other instrument to which the six-year statute did not appears the foundation of the claim may have been a written convexer. ten contract, a judgment or some other instrument to which the six-year statute did not ap-

MARKET REPORT.

Indianapolis Wholesale Market-Daily. Review. The produce market holds the boards to day with marked activity. A vast amount of poultry is arriving and there will be no scarcity. Undressed turkeys are not very strong at 8@8%c, (shipper's and wholesale prices). Chickens fetch 8c, but the demand has been largely supplied. Eggs are very firm and shippers will pay 25c, selling from store at 26@28c. Green produce is steady, except in the onion market, which is depressed under the weight of large

The production of sugars is again lessening so that refiners can make a profit. The demand is not active, nor are prices weaker, but there are indications of a stronger market. It is ap prehended that the intervention of an extra day of rest, this week, will result in the stopage of some refiners for several days, and this may stiffen prices temporarily. Coffees and teas remain very dull and weak; ayrups are slow and easy; N.O. molasses stronger; cheese quiet and unchanged; currants stronger and foreign fruits nominally as heretofore. Dry goods show an active mid-week trade, but no more is doing than legitimately belongs to this season. Prices are urchanged.

A Conspiracy Afoot.

It is intimated that a revolution is imminent in the city government, and that the conspirators who are plotting for recognition on the various boards have the piot so well in hand that the trap is likely to be sprung at the next meeting of council. Some weeks ago an ordinance was introduced doing away with the boards and placing the management of the several departments in the hands of the respective chiefs. As at present constituted, these chiefs. As at present constituted, these chiefs. As and the proposition was such a prouounced improvement upon old time methods, that little attention was paid thereto on the general supposition that it was folly to think that the council, judging from its record on other matters, would do so wise a thing Strange as it may seem, the prospect now is that it will be done, but leat a skeptical public may not be too greatly disturbed it may be added that the sole object of this "seeming reformation" is to get nd of some of the objectionable members of the present boards. When this has been accomplished an ordinance will follow in swift haste, re-creating the boards and increasing the membership of each to five, and one of the provisions will be that each aldermanic district shall be represented thereon. It will simply be a return to present methods, with an increased opportunity fo, political intrigue. It is understood that the democuats have been won over to its suppert, because under the rule of representation from each aldermanic district, one of them is bound to be appointed. Among the probabilities of reorganization is the retirement of Mr. Cowle from the board of public improvements; and Messrs, Pearson and Brundage from the police board; but it is intimated in the same con rection that Mr. Cowle will develop unexpected strength when it comes to stirring him up, and that the present fire board have such a grip that they will not be disturbed beyond adding two to their number. There is also an intimation that ward yoke. Stout and Dowling will form part A Conspiracy Afoot.

Questionable Requirements.

A councilman, this morning, directed attention to one or two peculiarities of the city hall scheme in calling for bids for building the proposed hall. The first is the requirement of a deposit of $500 with the president of the board—i.e. the mayor—as a guarantee of good fatth. The second and material point is that all bidders must register their intention with the president on the best of the president of the president on the first of the president o Questionable Requirements.

Policy of City Hall Schemers.

The building of an addition to the city hospital has virtually stopped and so has all business looking to the purchase of new cometery grounds, for the rea on, it is said, because the city hall schemers are adverse to the expenditure of any money in any direction until their pet project is an assured fact. Meanwhile the sick will be left to suffer for want of sufficient accommodation, and the city sexton will continue planting his dead, one above the other, until their feet overlap the soil. The sexton is not to blame for crowding the dead, for no room is left in which to give them Christian burial. Policy of City Hall Schemers.

Marion County's Manufactures. County Superintendent Harlam has made report to the statistical bureau showing the following statistics with regard to the manufactures of the county: Number of establishments, 207; capital invested, $7.486,900; value of raw material consumed, $17.686,000; value of manufactured product, $5.582,500; male employes 8 310; female employes, 305; total wages paid, $5,090,600; other expenses $1.180,000.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

This is certainly an age of many inventions and enterprises, and Indianapolis seems to be leading the advance, and now comes to the front with the most wonderful improvement of the age. A company composed of a majority of the best citizens of the city, has been formed, and are now in consultation with Mr. I. L. Frankem, the well known stove dealer, 34 East Washington street, in regard to heating the entire city in the coldest of weather. The plau is this—to place one of Mr. F. "Radiant Home" base burners in the Southern park, one in Military park, one in the Court House square, one in University square and a large one in the Circle—these five "Radiant Homes" can be run at a triflirg cost; then dwellings, business houses, factories, etc., will be heated by letting hot a'r in through transoms and open windows. All who desire stock, or full information, should at once call upon Mr. Frankem, 34 East Washington street, and mention "Radiant Home." A NEW ENTERPRISE.

KUN TO-NIGHT. The most novel thanksgiving entertainment of the season will take place to night. The management of the Zoo Theater are going to present to lucky holders of twenty five and thirty five cent tickets, twenty-five thanksgiving turkeys. This will cost victors nothing extra and will add greatly to the evenings enjoyment. Will say for this "temple of amusement" that it is rapidly growing in favor and there is no mistake, but what it is taking high rank as a first-class variety theater. The program this week is very fine and with the turkey novelty to-night the house should be packed.

AHEAD OF TIME.

The sweet singers, German Canaries and Gold Finches, have arrived one mouth ahead of time, and a finer lot never before came to our city. Their head equarters, of course, is at Schrader Broe', where they will be sold for a very short time at prices that are below what they will be later in the season.

This popular house, in order to make room, are selling odds and ends in dishes for less than half price—a rare opportunity.

THANKSGIVING EVE. Every visitor at the Zoo theater, to-night will have a chance to get a nice fat turkey—besides, they can see one of the best variety entertainments ever put upon a theater stage. Everything is first class, orderly and high-toned.

Every wearer of heavy underwear, gloves and stylish neckwear can learn something that will be to their interest by ealling at once at Eddy & West's gent's furnishing establishment, 26 and 28 North Pennsylvania street.

Office of City Hall Commissioners.

INDIABAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 24, 1882.

Proposals for the erection of a new City Hall and Market house on the East Market Square, in the city of Indianapolis, according to the plans and specifications now on file with the architects, J. H. and A. H. Stem, room No. 51 Fletcher & Sharpe's bank building, in the city of Indianapolis, which plans and specifications have heretolore been adopted by the undersigned City Commissioners, will be received by said commissioners at their office, room No. 13 basement of the court house, up to 2 o'clock p. m. of December 16, 1882. Such proposals must be under seal, and addressed as follows: "City Hall and Market-house Commissioners, Indianapolis, Ind., Proposals for the erection of the City Hall and Market house."

All bids must be in two parts:

First—To completely enclose said buildings, and, secondly, to do all inside work; but all bidders must bid upon the entire work. Each bid must be accompanied by the names of the sureties to be offered on the contractor's bond when contract is awarded.

A bond in the penalty of fifty thousand dollars will be required to be executed and fied with the City Clerk within five days after the award-ing of the contract by the Common Council and Board of Aldermen.

A deposit of $300 will be required to be made with the undersigned president of Board of City Commissioners, as a guaranty that the bond for the doing of the work will be executed as above provided, and, in default thereof, said money shall be forfeited to the city of Indianapolis.

All persons who propose to submit bids must register with the architects above named, on or before 2 o'clock p. m. of December 1, 1882.

The bids will be opened at 3 o'clock p. m. of December 16, 182, at the commissioners' room, No. 13 basement of the court house, and all bidders are invited to be present.

Forms will be provided by said architects, and all bids must be made thereon.

The Common Council and Board of Aldermen reserve the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the Roard of City Commissioners D. W. GRUBBS, President.
